BENNETT CERF, drama critic, author and TV personality, who will speak Tuesday evening to students at Pease Auditorium.

Author – TV Star Bennett Cerf Speaks Tuesday in Pease Auditorium

Bennett Cerf will speak on "Modern Trends in Literature and Humor" at the all-college assembly Tuesday, November 18, at 8:15 p.m. in Pease Auditorium.

EMC students will be admitted free upon presentation of an I.D. card. High school students will be charged 50 cents, and adults one dollar, however.

The sixty-year-old author, editor, columnist, and panelist began his literary career as a reporter for the New York Herald Tribune shortly after he received his degree from Columbia.

In 1925, Mr. Cerf entered the publishing business by buying Modern Library, Inc. in partnership with a friend. He redesigned the books, and turned them into such a lucrative business that the New York Times exclaimed that they were "the greatest book bargain in the United States today."

After soundly establishing Modern Library, he began a luxury trade in "fine" books—books beautifully bound in limited editions. It was this venture which aroused his interest in collecting "first" editions, and he has retained it to this very day.

Today, the socially-minded Bennett Cerf, who is never seen at anything but the most elite cocktail and house parties, is president of both Modern Library and Random House, and is director of Bantam Books.

The editor of such books as the Encyclopedia of American Humor, Shake Well Before Using, and Reading for Pleasure, the tall, brown-eyed, bespectacled Mr. Cerf frequently represents the book trade as a whole in such publications as "This Week" and "The Saturday Review of Literature."

Still living in New York City, and still inhabiting a Madison Avenue office, Bennett Cerf, who is married and the father of two sons, manages to sneak away from his literary-centered life each Sunday evening to appear on the television program, "What's My Line?"

Publications Staff Members at Convention

Three staff members of EMC student publications left this morning for Chicago to attend the annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference.

Mary Jane Miller, editor of the Aurora, and Nancy Harper and Larry Wilson, editor and business manager, respectively, of the Echo, will stay at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, site of the conference.

Meetings, beginning today and continuing through Saturday, will provide information from experts in the field of journalism. Cartoonist Al Capp will speak at a luncheon meeting Saturday.

"Calypso Carnival" Is Dance Theme

Calypso clothes are on the agenda for Saturday night, November 15, when the McKenny Hall ballroom will be the scene of "Calypso Carnival," the annual all-campus dance sponsored by Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Those attending the free event, which is open to all students and their guests, have been asked to dress in Calypso fashion.

Music for the dance will be provided by Jim Murray and his group. Entertainment will be presented at intermission by the two Greek organizations sponsoring the event.

Prizes will be given for the best costumes and the best Calypso dancers.

The event starts at 9:00 p.m. and will continue until midnight.

EMC Professor Authors Textbook

George C. De Long, professor of geography at Eastern Michigan College, is the co-author of "Weather and Climate," a new textbook published by McGraw-Hill Book Company of New York.

He collaborated on the volume with Dr. Clarence E. Koeppe, who, until his retirement in 1956, was on the staff of San Diego State College.

Professor De Long is a native of the Champaign-Urbana area and took his undergraduate work at the University of Illinois, where he studied meteorology under Professor John L. Page. He received his MA from Columbia University and his PhD from the University of Michigan. Before joining the faculty at Eastern Michigan College in 1947, he taught at the University of Illinois, and prior to that, at Northwestern State College in Oklahoma.

State Womens' Convention Starts Sessions Saturday

The annual convention of the Michigan Association of Women Students will open its 1958 session at 9:00 Saturday morning at Strong Auditorium.

Delegates from all over the state will be hosted by the Eastern Michigan College Women's League for the once-a-year event. A program including group discussion of college life will highlight the event.

Dr. Elizabeth Drews, a Michigan State University psychologist and former director of psychological services for the City of Lansing, will address the noon luncheon of the group at McKenny Hall.

Miss Elaine Forkappa, regional vice president of the International Association of Women Students, is also scheduled to speak.

Circle K Marks First Anniversary

Circle K Club will hold its charter night banquet at St. Luke's Episcopal Church on Wednesday, November 19, at 6:30 p.m.

Twenty EMC charter members will dine with approximately one hundred fifty local Kiwanis Club members and a delegation of officials from Kiwanis International.

Mike Kishmoian, club president; Prof. William Wilcox, the Circle K sponsor; and several other dignitaries are on the agenda to speak after dinner.

150 Debaters Meet At College Today

One hundred and fifty debaters from 17 eastern Michigan area high schools will meet at Pease Auditorium at 1:30 p.m. today.

The schools will be given a welcome by vice-president Nelson, which will be followed by three rounds of debate on the national high school topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt the Essential Features of the British Educational System." These rounds will begin at 1:30 p.m., 2:45 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. respectively.

This meeting will be the first practice debate tourney on the EMC campus in recent years. It is also the largest of its kind in the state.

Participating schools are Jackson, Troy, Royal Oak Kimball, Romulus, Grosse Ile, Belleville, Inkster, Willow Run, South Lake, Oxford, Lakeview, Southfield, Farmington, Ypsilanti, Howell, Adrian and Hazel Park.

Five at Human Relations Conference

Four students and a faculty member represented EMC at the annual Michigan College Conference on Human Relations at St. Mary's Lake Camp, Battle Creek, recently.

The team consisted of Carol Lynn Rosentrater, president of Gamma Delta; Joyce Duell, secretary of Lutheran Student Association; Lenore Farbman, president of Hillel; Robert Asperger, Student Council representative; and Prof. Floyd Reister.

Approximately 150 students representing 21 Michigan colleges and universities shared in discussions about human relations, and planned ways to promote better human relations in the campus communities.

As leaders of organizations, these students plan to promote involving victims of discrimination in group activities, and to take a stand in cases of overt discrimination. They also intend to encourage frank and free discussion of personal and group problems.

Five scholarships granted by the Michigan Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and Starkweather Hall covered the team's conference expenses.

WSAM Serves Men's Dormitories; May Expand to Campus-wide Coverage

Broadcasting station WSAM has entered its second semester of serving men's residence halls on the Eastern Michigan College campus with hopes of soon expanding to cover all dormitories with radio service.

The station, operating on a frequency of 650 k c., broadcasts nightly from 6:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. It can be heard in Brown Hall and in parts of Munson Hall.

Features, news, sports, music and special interview programs highlight the program schedules now.

In conjunction with its proposed expansion, station managers are seeking male and female students to act as disc jockeys, engineers, newscasters, sportscasters, announcers and promotion workers. Application for such jobs may now be picked up at any dormitory desk. They should be returned to WSAM studios at Brown Hall.

Jerry Hutcheson and Ron Szumlinski, station managers, said this week they would go before the Inter-Dorm Council to request campus wide coverage. This could be done, they said, by hooking up the station to the electrical system serving all residence halls. It would cost an estimated $125.00.

The present schedule of programs follows:

6:00 Weather report
6:05 Classical music
7:00 News, sports
7:05 Popular tunes
8:00 News, sports
8:05 Popular tunes
9:00 News, sports

Women's League Embraces All Coeds

Established to better serve the needs of women, the Women's League is an organization to which every woman student belongs as soon as she enrolls at EMC.

The League, as it is usually referred to, is affiliated with the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, which is a national organization.

Women's League is divided into two parts: the executive board, which is headed by the president of the organization and which initiates all major social activities of the organization, and the advisory board.

Advisory board, headed by the vice-president, is responsible for the campus rules and regulations that concern women students. This board is composed of eight women elected to serve as a judiciary board.

This judiciary board, which hears such campus misdemeanors as lateness, is the very institution which turns nebulous ideas or even "gripes" into workable realities.

In addition to the four elected officers, the board is composed of committee chairmen. Some milestones which have been reached as a result of these committee chairmen are visible in the Forum, the Newsletter, picture rental, and the student service.

The top four posts are filled yearly by vote of the women students. Last year Ann Waldo, Arlene Robinson, Anne Hardy, and Carolyn Campbell were elected to the posts of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Committee chairmen, without whom the League could not function, are appointed, however.

Both divisions of the League welcome new ideas and interested people. Any woman student interested in becoming an active member should contact a representative of Women's League.

Dr. Hood Passes

DR. HOOD

Dr. Carl Hood, a member of Eastern Michigan College's education department, passed away suddenly Wednesday. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

A full professor at EMC, Dr. Hood joined the college staff in 1946. He was also a college alumnus, having received his Bachelor of Arts degree here. He received his master of arts degree at the University of Michian.

Dr. Hood spent much of his life in the field of educational research. He spent last summer touring the Soviet Union with his wife and 70 members of the Cooperative Educational Society to analyze the Soviet system of education.

Letters To The Editor

Protests Dorm Policies

To the Editor:

College women! Yes, women with that status — even though the majority of their peers not in college are completely independent — college women, supposedly the cream of the crop, must ask permission to go home for a weekend.

I can just now hear the administration and its battery of housemothers vehemently protesting that girls need not request permission — that the weekend "sign out slips" merely indicate to them where the girls are going. I'm equally as certain that the administration feels justified in asking for a responsibility release.

Surprisingly enough, I do not object to signing out! I do, however, abhor the sign out procedure presently utilized in the women's residence halls.

What is this procedure? Well . . it goes something like this:

If a girl is fortunate enough to have her agenda for the weekend completed by Thursday evening after dinner, or the very latest on Friday noon after lunch, she goes to the office desk, obtains a sign out permit which requires such information as the hour and minute of departure, the destination, and the hour of return.

After completing the application, she then signs the meal chart and indicates which meals she will miss, so that the dormitory can pay off its mortgage with money saved on food.

Thus far, the procedure isn't too appalling. The next step is one which really infuriates me. She must present the slip to the housemother who then checks the slip for accuracy and signs it if it meets with her approval — an indication that she may go home.

My next gripe is having to sign out at a designated time. If one doesn't happen to be around Thursday evenings because she has a night class, and if by chance it is virtually impossible for her to be around Friday afternoon because she has a twelve o'clock, or perhaps must be at student teaching, she must request "special permission."

Special permission is fine! The only thing I have against it is the fact that after three of these special condescentions, her name is submitted to house advisory board, and she risks the chance of being campused.

I have still another gripe! This one deals with the impetuous girl who decides to go home Friday evening or Saturday morning either because one of her parents is sick, or because she just feels plain homesick. This late decision, too, requires "special permission." After three of these, she finds herself hauled before house advisory board.

Since I've griped so much, I can just see a million people pointing fingers toward be saying, "Okay, what do you propose?" Well, my proposition is as simple as this: Henceforth, if a girl wants to go home for a weekend, just have her fill out one of these weekend sign out slips along with her regular sign out card before she departs, and place it on the desk.

I'm sure this will serve the same purpose—it will release the administration of responsibility, and let them know where she can be reached without compelling her and the housemother to go through the tedious, time-consuming ritual that is currently in practice.

Student NEA

To the Editor:

We have an organization on campus, S.N.E.A. Does anyone know what these letters signify? They stand for Student National Education Association: in other words, the college level of Future Teachers of America.

This organization has been on campus for three years. In those three years the club has done some outstanding things such as: sponsoring F.T.A. Days, conferences with high school groups to establish F.T.A. clubs and acquaint these students with college, panel discussions, and many social activities.

Membership since the first year the club was organized has slowly dwindled down to a mere few. Since this college is primarily one of teacher education we feel there should be much enthusiasm towards S.N.E.A. The lack of interest is discouraging, because this organization has much to offer the individual and we can not succeed without members to help.

We realize this lack of interest does not lie only with the students, but with the faculty as well. Several times the faculty has been asked to announce coming activities of the club and through neglect very seldom have these activities been announced.

S.N.E.A. wants new members, welcomes new members, and needs new members. A large membership will enable S.N.E.A. to accomplish much for the individual members, the club, and the school.

You need S.N.E.A. more than you think.

Sincerely yours,
Interested Students

Pen Pal

To the Editor:

May I introduce myself?

I am a Scot from Edinburgh, now a civil servant in London. During the war, I was a radio operator in the British Merchant Navy and I visited America many times. I was always impressed by the kindness and hospitality shown to the Britons like myself who were thrown upon your shores by the war.

I now have a lot of spare time and, as a hobby, have started the Anglo-American Pen Club to enable young people in America and Britain to get to know each other better by exchanging ideas, magazines, etc.

I already have a long list of young Britons who are eager to make pen friends in America, but my difficulty is putting them in touch with young Americans of similar interests.

I am sure that you will agree that only good can come from such a flow of correspondence across the Atlantic. If any of your readers are interested, would you please advise them to write to:

I hope I shall hear from some of you shortly.

Student Council to Weigh Payment For Thefts in Homecoming Raids

The question of whether or not to reimburse residents of women's dormitories more than $100 for lost articles during the Homecoming Week dormitory raids will be discussed Tuesday night by the Student Council.

Victims of the raids lost a total of $108.88 in articles, the Council reported. The question of reimbursement first came up last month.

Students interested in this problem and other aspects of student government are invited to voice their opinions at Tuesday's meeting, the Council announced. All SC meetings are open to students.

Several other issues confront Council members. Members will discuss whether or not to affiliate EMC with the National Student Association, a nationwide organization of student governing bodies, which has asked EMC to join.

The Seminar Committee has asked to become a standing SC committee, and an amendment to provide this is on the floor of the Council presently.

Other business at next Tuesday's meeting includes the election of a student to the College Publications Board, a decision on whether or not EMC will be represented at a Model U. N. session being organized at the University of Illinois, and a discussion on the possibility of giving a certificate to all campus organizations recognized by the college. The possibility of a contest for designing such a certificate will also be discussed, Council spokesmen reported.

Tuesday's meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. at McKenny Hall.

Sign making equipment for general college use has been secured by EMC, and Mr. Ralph Gilden, the dean of student activities, will be in charge of the service.

Student organizations, residence halls, fraternities, sororities, and all student groups may use the equipment for announcements and signs. Complete information and forms on which to request posters are available in Mr. Gilden's office.

There will be no charge for use of the equipment. However, it will be the responsibility of the student group to supply the necessary materials, which may be purchased at the McKenny Hall Bookstore.

Depending upon the size of the poster and the amount of information to be placed on it, the cost for supplies could range from approximately ten cents to approximately twenty cents.

At this time, cutting dyes to reproduce the greek letters of fraternities and sororities are not available. If there is sufficient interest among fraternities and sororities, the Greek letters for each group will be secured.

Western Dumps Hurons

by Jerry Levin and Ken Balcoff

Eastern finished their conference play last weekend with a 27-6 loss to an inspired Western Illinois team. It was a must game for the Leathernecks in their battle for the conference grown. The loss plunged Eastern into fourth spot with a 3-3 conference record and 4-4 in the overall season.

The weatherman and a sophomore out of Chicago, by the name of Mike McFarland, teamed up to write the obituary for a badly outplayed Eastern eleven. This game could be considered the Hurons poorest effort to date.

The brightest spot for Eastern came in the closing minutes of the third quarter when Al Day scored his team's lone touchdown. Aside from that, most of the action was provided by the Leathernecks who forced Eastern to punt seven times before the final gun.

Neither the weatherman nor the EMC defense seemed to bother the Western backfield as they moved through large holes in our usually solid line. Western picked up 218 yards on the ground and 67 yards through the air. The Huron defense, which was ranked by the NCAA as the eighth best across the nation with an average of 129 yards allowed per game, met a Western line which was just too strong. This seemed to be our downfall.

Eastern could muster only 150 somewhat waterlogged yards. Garron of Western was the top ground gainer of the afternoon with 56 yards. Another Leatherneck, Mott, was second with 52. Day of Eastern totaled 30.

The Western game was a sad note for the Cinderella team of 1957 to end this season's conference play. Two defeats were the bitterest "pills" to swallow, namely the Central (7-6) and the Southern (12-9) games. Had these defeats been instead in the victory column, the Hurons would have been a difficult team to cope with in their final conference game.

This year's squad, athough lacking the depth of last year, was, we feel, equal to any team in the IIAC. The team deserved neither the biting criticism it received, nor did it need the lengthy alibies offered in its defense. It had nothing to alibi for. They played hard and they played to win. At times, with the first string taxed close to the breaking point, it remains a mystery how they managed to score! The students of this institution can point with pride to the 41 unsubsidized gentlemen who take the field for them on Saturday afternoons.

IIAC Standings

	Won	Lost	Tie	Pct.
Central Michigan	4	1	0	.800
Southern Illinois	4	1	0	.800
Western Illinios	4	1	0	.800
Eastern Michigan	3	3	0	.500
Illinois Normal	2	4	0	.333
Northern Illinois	1	4	0	.200
Eastern Illinois	1	5	0	.167

Harriers Take Second in IIAC

Led by Mauri Jormakka, EMC's cross country team placed second with a total of seventy points in the IIAC meet held at Mt. Pleasant last Saturday. Central Michigan captured the championship, which the Hurons lost for the first time last year, with an aggregate score of fifty-two.

Ed VanderHevuel of Central took first place with the winning time of 19:29. Jormakka placed fourth to lead the Hurons with a time of 20:04. Gurney Beach finished eighth, while Doug Carroll came in fourteenth. Howard Reindel and Don Taylor rounded out the scoring for Eastern by placing eighteenth and twenty-sixth, respectatively.

Coach George Marshall remarked, "We weren't up to par, and didn't do as well as I expected." Central Michigan had the advantage of running on their home course and the support of several hundred rooters.

The second place finish by the Hurons was an improvement over last year's fourth place in the meet. Interestingly enough, earlier in the season in a dual meet EMC downed Central 25-31.

Eastern led a tough Western Illinois squad by only two points in capturing second place.

Huron Highlights

by . . . . Bill Forster

Last Saturday's football contest indicated two clear facts of life. The first fact is that Western Illinois has a better football team than Eastern Michigan. Secondly, although not secondary, it showed that Huron football fans cannot be classified as fools.

This is not to say that those who go to watch our football team are in any sense of the term "fools." Eastern possesses a good, although not extremely exciting, group of individuals representing her colors in a quite satisfactory manner both on and off the field of their athletic prowess.

Nevertheless, from the viewpoint of the spectator (which this individual is and will remain) the game last Saturday was not volatile enough to merit the viewers undivided attention throughout the second half downpour. During this second half the stands were quite conspicuous by their absence of occupants.

Quite justifiably, the student body (and other elements of Huron fandom) had made hurried exits at the beginning of this continuous precipitation. For some unknown reason, the playing of "muddzie" did not appeal in the slightest to these eager-eyed sports enthusiasts.

Doesn't it seem ironic that there is no protective covering over the football arena (in which contests must be carried on despite the reaction of "mother nature"). On the other hand, over the baseball field (on which games may be played with only more ideal weather prevalent) there is a nice bit of roofing which is so sorely lacked by the football stadium.

There appears to be a lack of foresight, or what may be classified as "common sense" in this instance. Don't be disturbed though (my somewhat spiritually dampened friends) just be sure to be practical and bring your umbrellas and other protective coverings to future Herculean contests at the Briggs football field.

Farewell, Seniors

by Bob Quick

Since the termination of the season will be with us after the tussle with St. Joseph this Saturday at 1:30 we will vary from our usual synopses of two players per week and will try to give a summary of those fifteen men who this game will have the greatest significance to, the seniors. First, let us discuss the linemen, unheralded throughout four years of practice grind but certainly deserving of final praises.

Ed Wuestenberg—A six foot one inch 210 pound lineman Ed transfered here from Wayne State University. Although not the most active member of the Hurons, in time played, his team spirit is unexcelled.

John Batson—A savage blocking center for the Hurons, John hails from Mt. Morris. He is 5' 10" and weighs 200 pounds. His loss will undoubtedly be another damaging one to next year's squad.

Carl Elliot—This hulking six foot 210 pound tackle who was all-IIAC in 1957 and a probable repeater is from Lapeer, Michigan. "Bonzo," as his team-mates affectionately refer to him, is always in the middle of the opponent's offense making life miserable for Huron foes. Number "76" leaves a big hole to fill in the Eastern line.

Jim Christensen—One of the hardest blockers and hardest working linemen on the present Huron team, Jim's tough yet intelligent line play aids in discouraging Eastern opponents from attempting to run through the middle of the line. Jim is 21 years old and a Physical Education major.

Don Mathews—Don is 21 years old and is a native of Flat Rock. He was selected to the second team in the all-conference poll last season. Don's pass catching ability and hard running will be noticeably missed by next year's squad.

Don Stowers—Although not one of the brighter stars on the Huron eleven Don has been a valuable asset both as a guard and tackle. He is married and is a physical education major.

Alex Klukach—One of those who will be most sorely missed by the Hurons next year Alex has done a wonderful job both offensively and defensively. Since first appearing in the Eastern line-up Klukach has made his presence felt as a morale-booster, also Charlie Shonta, the present captain of the Eastern squad, claims that Alex is the most under-rated player on the team.

Previous articles have dealt with the remaining two graduating linemen Charles Shonta and Fred Kessler; consequently they will not be included in this summary. Thus let us move to the more conspicuous part of the team: the backfield.

Jim Shultz—Jim played his high school ball at Denby in Detroit. Starring on defense Jim was a valuable cog in this year's fine defensive machine. Jim is also a member of the basketball team.

Sam Holloway—Sam was another asset to the defensive backfield. A graduate of Ann Arbor High School, Sam is majoring in sociology and is an active member in Omega Psi Phi social fraternity. Also a wrestler, Sam's interest will most likely change with the seasons.

George Thompson—Popular both on and off the football field, George is a Biology major while he isn't showing his speed on the gridiron. He graduated from Belleville High School where he was the president of his graduating class.

As with the linemen previously mentioned in "Meet the Huron" stories, backfield members Al Day, Jerry Wedge, and John Malone are not included in this summary although in losing them Coach Trosko faces a difficult problem.

Football Finale

by Jerry Smoot

The Eastern Michigan College Hurons, still smarting from the 27-6 loss to Western Illinois University, will face the Pumas of St. Joseph's College (Indiana) this weekend on the former's own soil to finish up the 1958 football season.

The St. Joseph's squad will travel to Ypsilanti with a record of four wins and the same number of losses, matching the record of our Hurons. The Pumas have thus far lost to Xavier, North-Eastern Oklahoma State, Butler, and Valparaiso; while beating Depauw (32-8), Indiana State (44-0), Ball State (7-0), and Evansville (28-0). The squad, though seemingly weaker than last season, is considered a very serious threat to the possibilities of a winning season for the Hurons.

St. Joseph's has been hampered by injuries throughout the season, but its backfield composed of sophomore Mike McGovern at quarterback, Les Klien and Tom Deem at the halves, and Mike Murphy at fullback is said to be fast as well as dangerous. Deem, in the game against Ball State, rolled up 133 yards rushing in 16 tries for an average of 8.3 yards per carry. This same individual has averaged nearly five yards per carry this season.

Eastern Michigan College, now having completed conference competition, will be hoping to avenge the 48-13 whipping administered by the Pumas last season. Eastern has now assured itself of a fourth place finish in the IIAC as a result of losing last week's game to Western.

Mule Skinners Triumph

The championship touch football for the Independent League was played Monday, Nov. 10. In this game the Mule Skinners romped over the Grosse Pointe Independent team, (13-0). The regular season ended in a two way tie between these two teams, both with season records of 10 wins and one defeat.

The touchdowns for the Mule Skinners were both scored on pass plays from the quarterback Dick Dehart. The first touchdown was scored on a 10 yard play from Dehart to Bob Jenson. The extra point attempt was blocked. The second touchdown was a 5 yard pass play from Dehart to Ray Wine. The extra point attempt was good, and the game ended with the score 13-0.

Tekes Tie? Nix!

In order to break a tie for first place in the fraternity standings, Phi Sigma Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon clashed in a biting wind Tuesday afternoon. After fighting back to a 7-7 tie during regular game time, the Tekes scored in overtime to take the fraternity football crown.

Phi Sig was first to draw blood. They intercepted a Teke pass on the Teke 25 yard line. On the next play Earl Cumfort threw a touchdown pass to Tom Winkle. Phi Sig made the kick and took a 7-0 lead at half-time.

In the second half the Tekes bounced back, scoring the first time they got their hands on the ball. They picked up the six points on a twenty-eight yard aerial from Ed Berrington to Chet Kraszewski. The same pass play combo worked for the extra point to knot the score.

As regulation play ended, the score remained 7-7. After a slight rest the two teams again took the field to begin a 10 minute overtime session.

In the overtime the Tekes scored quickly taking advantage of a pass interception by Kraszewski on the Phi Sig's 15 yard marker. The next play was good for the fifteen yards necessary, a toss to Ted Nix from Berrington. Thus Tekes via their exciting finish are crowned intramural football champions for 1958.

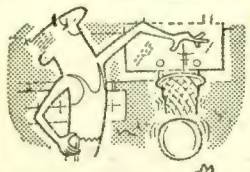
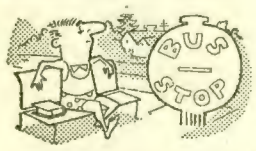
Do you try to keep from getting angry because you feel that emotion can interfere with your judgment? YES ☐ NO ☐



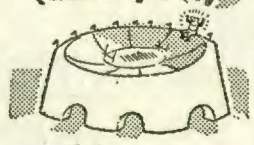
Do you like to "show your stuff" when you know you are really good at something? YES ☐ NO ☐

Can you honestly say you like to be entirely independent of others in most things you do? YES ☐ NO ☐



In the morning, do you carefully choose a tie, matching jacket, etc., instead of grabbing the first thing you see in the closet? YES ☐ NO ☐

When you are criticized do you stop to analyze the criticism before retorting? YES ☐ NO ☐



Do you sometimes go to a public event, such as a football game, even if you have to go alone? YES ☐ NO ☐

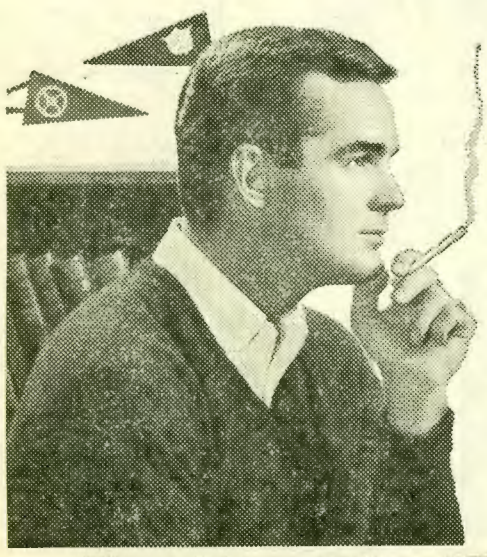
Are you able to stay cheerful even when you are alone for a considerable time? YES ☐ NO ☐



Do you ignore extravagant claims and think for yourself when making your choice of filter cigarette? YES ☐ NO ☐

The fact is, men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? Best in the world. They know only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

Prof. DeLong

In 1953, just before the term opened at Eastern Michigan College, Professor De Long learned that one of the weather work books which he had been using in his classes had gone out of print. The author of the manual was Professor Koappe. When Professor De Long wrote to him asking about reproducing certain items in the manual for classroom use, the collaboration in a sense, began.

Some chapters were written in their entirety by Professor De Long, others were entirely the the work of Professor Koeppe, and still others were written jointly.
